

Cajon Division Summer Event

"Op Till You Drop"

SCHEDULE

Friday	June 25 th	6:00pm-till
Saturday	June 26 th	10:00am-till
Sunday	June 27 th	10:00am-6:00pm

OK, I am a glutton for punishment, but have been wanting to do this for quite some time. The weekend of June 25-27th, plan on operating till you just can't stand up any longer then doing it again the next day and again the next!

Here is how this works, anyone can come and operate starting Friday night at 6PM running till you just can't do anymore. Then again Saturday starting at 10AM and again Sunday at 10AM.

Don't think you are up to that much operation? Maybe, your schedule or spouse won't allow that much time away? Then come for any portion of the session you can. The idea is to move as much freight in one weekend as possible. According to the Conrail website, they moved 84 freight trains total over their system in the last 7 days. I think we can beat that.

Maybe you have not operated before. Don't worry, any member of my regular crew will gladly conduct on-the-job training or maybe, you just want to watch a bunch of operation crazed guys go batty. For whatever reason, join us for this event.

Food!

To survive this kind of event, we need to sustain our energy. So, coffee, soft drinks and water will be available. Bring any snack items you wish to share. More importantly we will have a donation jar from which we will order out for pizza or have someone make a fast food run. Crews will be allowed to "Go-to-Beans"

Purpose!

Regardless of your reason for attending, FUN and SOCIALIZING is the goal! Please, let me know if you want to attend any portion of the weekend so I can plan accordingly.
